Asquith, British Statesman.
Trade Rat and Man.
Edison, Ford, for Hoover.
Lindbergh Luck.

By Arthur Brisbane

HERBIE CALIF., FEB. 15.—Herbie Asquith, called in his old age Lord Asquith and Asquith, now dead in England, represented in his life and work Britain's best type of statesman. Well educated, with high ideals, free from personal ambition, devoted entirely to his country's welfare, Asquith was one of a long line of able men that have built and maintained the British Nation. Britain will mourn his death, and honor him as he deserves. Fortunately it is that Nation served by so many men of ability and unselfish devotion.

On the Asquith Desert, where this is written, the "Trade Rat," little more than a creature, collects all sorts of things, creates to him. He brings odds and ends into your shack, taking other odds and ends away, hence his name.

Have you considered the collecting habits of your fellow men? The most powerful, at this moment, collect surplus millions of dollars and think money is the bank makes them great. It only makes them nervous.

Old rulers collected dwarfs, half idiots, strange animals and "jesters," often wiser than they. One of the richest Rothschilds collected known varieties of fleas, including the one that bites the Arctic fox. That was not time wasted. Fleas carry the plague, science wants to know them.

Frederick the Great's father collected the tallest men he could find for his Potsdam regiment. Frederick collected victories to flatter one kind of vanity and collected great men, like Voltaire, about him, to flatter his intellectual vanity. Thousands of Americans collect "antiques," thus promoting an active modern industry—only the few choose with knowledge.

Take all human passions, however, collected by necessity.

The beaver and ant, unlike the trade rat, collect carefully. Some men collect knowledge, statistics, others fine works of art that inspire later generations in good work.

Even the collectors of dollars are useful, building up vast industrial and commercial walls, creating a foundation for future higher civilization. They mold in the dark, not understanding their work, like the tiny coral-building creatures that laid foundations for beautiful South Sea islands.

Edison, celebrating his 81st birthday, with Fivestone the tire man, for company, said, "The country needs Fivestone for President. He is a real savant, a great inventor. Engineers are what we need, they build the country."

Charles' story followed testimony by Herbert Smith of Warren avenue, Weston, Buckley's former "pal."

DAVE DIME "GEMS"
Buckley brought a five-and-ten-cent store "diamond" ring for Grace. Smith testified. He declared that Buckley showed him a bracelet on the night Grace was killed, saying the bracelet was her pledge that she would meet him at mid night.

Smith's testimony, together with that of William P. Turner of Broad street, a fireman, was interrupted several times by a chorus between Alty, George L. Ellsworth, who is waiting for the fight for life, and Alty, Robert T. Bushnell, both Smith and Turner are defense witnesses.

Those charges electrified the courtroom, which was filled with spectators long before the session opened. Several disappointed men, women and girls waited in corridor, hoping to get into the crowded courtroom.

Grace Mills, who had been expected to take the witness stand today, but this morning said she was not going to appear.

"You're just getting her up," said Alty, Ellsworth on one occasion, while the attorney for the prosecution several times with averted remarks.

Buckley, who is charged with the murder of Grace Mills, said that she did not take place until tomorrow or later.

"Grace Mills told me she loved Foster Buckley," testified Alty, Ellsworth, who is waiting for the fight for life, and Alty, Robert T. Bushnell, both Smith and Turner are defense witnesses.

Played Flivver Joke

With His Fourth Wife

ON THE STAGE 50 YEARS

Veteran actor, who said he would be an actor until he died, died suddenly after he appeared in "The Fallen Star" in Kansas City last night.

WHEN HE TOOK HIS KIDS TO RIDE

It was a Ford of ancient vintage, and they said they would go if he could start it. "The joke is on me," he said. "If I start it I will get a kick out of it." He said his next car would be a sight-seeing bus, because nothing smaller would be large enough to take all the family out for a ride at the same time.

Buckley Jury Held Up by Cop on Auto Ride

The jury hearing the case of Joseph Foster Buckley had an unusual experience.

After attending a motion picture and concert show at a Harvard street theater, the jury, in charge of a deputy sheriff, was taken for a ride in a neighborhood bus.

The bus was restricted and trucks and buses are not allowed to operate on it. An alert Metropolitan Park motorcycle policeman overhauled the bus and stopped it.

The officer asked the deputy sheriff to get out of the bus. The deputy sheriff, who was in uniform, with "Metropolitan" on his sleeve, descended from the bus and explained the situation. The bus was allowed to proceed.

Broken into. The Mills family has claimed that Grace did not go to the house on Horton at Watlington, as they were with Buckley the night of the tragedy.

which was a violation of the statute of the state, and it shall report its findings to the house as soon as may be.

The order will go to the Committee on Rules.

When shown a copy of the Sawyer order, Atty-Gen. Reading said: "I welcome the investigation. Let the facts speak for themselves."

Later, while speaking before the Judiciary Committee on his bill to make permanent the temporary law permitting justices of the lower court to fill in on the Superior Court bench, Attorney General Reading alluded to the Decimo case.

"Apportion of nothing that had been stated, he said he wanted to call the attention of members of the committee to the fact that the Decimo case was a violation of the statute of the state, and it shall report its findings to the house as soon as may be."

"I have only the kindest feelings for Atty-Gen. Reading and I would be personally willing to withhold my judgment until he is able to clear up the matter. But the charges have received so wide circulation, in the press that a public suspicion has been aroused which the justice of the state demands must be settled."

FACTS MUST COME OUT.
"The facts must come out. I do not myself hold any opinion as yet as to the conduct of Mr. Reading but for the sake of Massachusetts I want the matter cleared up."

"My order provides the proper methods and source. Some have said to wait and let Governor Fuller decide it. This is either passing the buck or a failure to understand the constitution of the state."

"My Reading is a constitutional officer elected by the people. Our error Fuller has no responsibility for his own error. I am not the General Court. The constitution provides that in the acts of any officer the General Court representing the people may take jurisdiction."

"It provides that if I said acts constitute grounds for investigation and indictment, I shall be by the House, with trial by the House."

"DISTURBED AROUSED."
"I without personally forming any opinion as to the conduct of Mr. Reading on any matter but the case has reached the proportions where the General Court should act as intended by our constitution and accordingly I have filed this order."

"I do not know whether there be good ground for the charges made by the press in my own case, but I have been made. Public distrust is aroused. It is my duty to clear up the matter. I am going to make a statement in the New York court may do so."

FEE SAID TO BE LEGAL.
At the executive office it is expected that Governor Fuller will report from his southern trip Saturday.

The New York charges, brought by Hugh C. Moulton, former president of the Decimo Club, is that Atty-Gen. Reading took a fee for his services in looking the investigation by the New York attorney general's office.

JOINT BRITISH U. S. SESSION ON RADIO PHONE

New York, Feb. 16 (NSB)—The world was closer still today when radio made an auditorium for two audiences, separated by 3,000 miles of water.

Killed together through a transatlantic radio telephone circuit, the American Institute of Electrical Engineers in New York, met jointly with the British Institution of Electrical Engineers in London.

The demonstration marked the employment of the transatlantic circuit for the first time as a means of communication between large audiences, normally assembled with out individual telephone equipment.

VOICES GO OVERSEAS.

The meeting opened at 10:25 a. m. and lasted for 25 minutes. In New York an overflow gathering of 200 people listened in an auditorium while another 100 persons listened in upstairs. In London more than 100 persons were gathered.

Three large amplifiers in the hall brought the voices from overseas to the ears of the listeners. The tones were so clear that listeners could scarcely tell whether it was London or a speaker in the New York platform talking.

HEAR LONDON COUGH.

A resolution that this new scientific link between the old world and the new world should form the basis of an increase of good will and understanding among nations, was unanimously adopted by both audiences in London and New York.

Among the speakers in London: Ernest Turner, in Page 4, Column 2.

Ivonne Hughes, former Follies girl, wasn't the bride of Gordon Godowsky, Harvard senior and son of Leopold Godowsky, famous pianist, when their elopement was announced a week ago, and he was disinherited, but they went to Harrison, N. Y., Tuesday and made the story true by having the knot tied.

VICTIM POSED AS 'SISTER' OF HAMMER FIEND

Posed as his sister, although all ready legitimately wed to him, Mary Lyle McLean served as housekeeper at the Maine State Reformatory for six months in order to be near Cecil Clyde Campbell, who two weeks ago shot her with a lousier.

This theory was disclosed as fact today by Dr. C. F. Parker of Windham, Me., who was Campbell's household physician. Dr. Parker positively identified a picture of the slain Lynn woman as that of the "Mrs. McLean" who lived with Campbell as his sister while he served as housekeeper of the reformatory at South Windham in 1922.

This peculiar liaison was resented by police before, because of the close proximity of Campbell's legal wife to the fact of that time and yet it proved him. It was viewed as evidence that the former Boston insurance company worker was aware of the fact that he was not the legitimate wife of the accused murderer.

In the meantime, Campbell's legal wife, since divorced, expressed fear for her life if the former head of the Police would in any other case acquit of the grave charge facing him in New York.

"If he is loved of the charge of murdering the McLean woman in New York, I will undoubtedly be his next victim," said Mrs. Campbell at her home in South Portland.

She has given much information to New York police, and will undoubtedly be called as a witness at the trial of the former husband.

While a grand jury in New York was weighing an indictment for first degree murder against Campbell, another of the "crimes" of the accused man has turned up. She is Mrs. Elizabeth G. Barnham, a wealthy matron of New York, who says she married Campbell seven years ago.

Campbell disappeared with her, and she claims, a short time after the ceremony and a check for $100,000 was sent to the clergyman officiating at their marriage was returned at $100,000.

There are investigating companies who are investigating in Maine and in the "fact" with the millwright alone and in the "fact" with the millwright alone and in the "fact" with the millwright alone.

OPERA CAREER INSPIRED BY MARRIAGE

Marriage may interfere with an opera career for the average girl, but it has been the inspiration of the most promising dramatic soprano since Marion Talley in the company of Mrs. Hilda Burke of Baltimore, who sings tonight before the New England Traffic Club.

But then, Mrs. Burke is not average.

She is a born artist with the greatest incentive in the world to her—the desire to better the lot of an adoring husband.

"William loved my voice," she said after much weeping from her mother, George Castello, twice prisoned at Peabody Conservatory, Boston, who, with Mrs. Castello, accompanied her to Boston, and when I was from my mother's side, leaving Rosa Hales in La Graciosa, the last role, in the last of my life, but to see me on the stage.

"That was four years ago, and then my life has been just one continuous after another with many happy days in the Philadelphia Civic Opera Club."

Mrs. Burke was a member of the grand jury awarded by the National Opera Club of New York Society with the National Federation of Music Clubs last April and this victory over all other singers from all over the country brought with it three appearances with the San Carlo Opera Co., and one with the Chicago Civic Opera Co. to be made this year.

ELOPED AT 17

Mrs. Hilda Burke of Baltimore, most promising dramatic soprano since Marion Talley, found wedded life not only did not interfere with her art, but was a positive stimulant. Born with talent, she strove to justify the hopes of an adoring husband, "William loved my voice," she says. Mrs. Burke has won many honors and a place in the Philadelphia Civic Opera Company.

She was a co-winner last April of the grand prize of the National Opera Club of New York. Tonight she sings before the New England Traffic Club.

The deathhouse in State Prison was being prepared today to receive a new temporary inmate.

Cell 1, nearest the chair, was except and guarded by prisoners. Bankers were averted and visitors were barred from the deathhouse in preparation for the arrival of Jerry Gedzium, alias "Jerry the Pole," sentenced to die the week of Feb. 26.

The law provides that a condemned prisoner shall be taken to the prison ten days before the date of execution, but it has been customary to bring them to the deathhouse on Feb. 26, and this custom will probably be followed in Gedzium's case.

It will be his first visit to the death house, having previously been confined in the Cherry Hill section, before removal to East Cambridge Jail where he has been confined pending disposition of an appeal.

Nathaniel Matthews, a former mayor of Boston, and a leader of the Suffolk bar, left an estate of $387,943.50, according to an inventory filed in the Registry of Probate today. His personal property is valued at $150,242.50 and real estate $237,700. He owned shares of stock in many corporations throughout the United States.

His real estate comprised house and land at 400 Beacon st., appraised at $40,000; equity of $100,000 in the Boston Trust Co.; and land and buildings known as the "Black Brook Farm," at Hamlin, worth $42,700.

NURSE ASKS $10,000 OF DOCTOR; GETS NOTHING

Mrs. Helen V. Helms, a domestic nurse, today asked for $10,000 damages against Dr. David H. Judd, a prominent physician, for the death of her son, a child of 10, who died after being taken to the hospital by the doctor in 1922.

The nurse alleged that Dr. Judd, in 1922, she was attending to the child, who was the victim of a disease. She said the doctor gave her a bill of $10,000, which she refused to pay, and she said she was taking the case to the court.

BIG INTEREST IN BENEFIT CONCERT, SAYS BETTY ALDEN

Hungarian Music Played by Native Orchestra to Feature Affair Held in Dartmouth St. Home of Mrs. Webster

A HUNGARIAN ORCHESTRA DISCOURAGING ITS WILD, SWEET, NATIVE MUSIC, practically all of Society (now in town) disposed about on gilded chairs; so magnificent a mansion as Mrs. Edwin Sidney Webster's Dartmouth street residence opened for the occasion, and a most worthy cause to be benefited—these are ingredients that may be skillfully manipulated by astute matrons into a stupendously successful benefit. And, strangely enough, it is exactly this sort of affair—the concert this evening at Mrs. Webster's that imparts brilliance to the present season.

BENEFITS, DONE IN THE GRAND MANNER, preceded by innumerable dinners, with everyone arriving roared out as for grand opera, have taken first place in brilliancy and importance. They have far outdistanced for glitter and glamour functions of merely frivolous import—the routs and balls and fetes staged for no other purpose than amusement. Even the balls and parties given by dotting parents for the dear little girls just stepping into the social arena easily lacked the usual magnificence this season at least, surrounded the entertainment put on in the zebu of Sweet Charity. Certainly the old order changed.

SOCIETY HAS SET ITS SEAL OF APPROVAL on this evening's musicale. The Traveler's Aid Society benefits. And that, by the bye, enjoys a support and patronage of the ultra Boston sort. Bela Berkas and his Hungarian, triggered out in the picturesque costume of that picturesque land, came over last night from New York to be the performers. The society rejoices that Mrs. J. Tucker Barr is the president, and that such matrons as Mrs. Russell Godman, Mrs. Webster and Mrs. Chandler Hovey are its staunch supporters.

SPEAKING OF BENEFITS—THE "BOARD of Lady Visitors" of the Lyngby Hospital are doing their benefit in a somewhat different way. Not for them a sponsor list of several hundred names that spell weight and importance, socially and financially. They put depend on friendship's urge, and each one of the working committee is doing a yeoman service at inducing friends to take tickets. Comaeder Byrd is the superattraction. The "Lady Visitors" present at the Hotel Statler on February 23. And they count on Comaeder Byrd's name to correct those who may not respond fervently to friendly feeling alone.

THE "LADY VISITORS" PLAN AN SPECIAL attraction a reception to meet Comaeder Byrd, immediately after the lecture, in which a small and choice company will be hidden. This is the airman's final public appearance before he takes wing for the South Pole, and the subject for his talk will be his flight over the North Pole and his transatlantic venturing. The Board of Lady Visitors is putting in strenuous morning at its self-imposed task of ticket selling. And, if the benefit isn't an enormous success, it won't be because of lack of caterpillars. Mrs. Hendricks Hallett Whitman finds pioneering for a home into the town's untidy purities to have most satisfying compensations, as well as features quite novel to one erstwhile of Boston st. And to pull up Beacon st. stakes and trek into the socially distant regions, there to establish one's household, is exactly the revolutionary sort of thing one expects of so versatile and ingenious a matron as Mrs. Whitman. So far as the hotel is concerned, her "Station Place" venture is bearing fruit—and friends and admirers are following her daring example.

IT WAS AT THE "RECLAIMED" HOUSE in Union Park that tea was sipped, not long ago and plans discussed for the presentation of an American Opera here in Boston. Mrs. Whitman, entering into this operative project with her usual good enthusiasm, was just then and there looking the affair over. Mrs. Whitman's interest in the "American Opera Company" goes back to last summer, when the company were a Sullivan Hall attraction and where Mrs. Whitman's own play was presented. Brilliant audiences literally filled Sullivan Hall, overflowing for "Pond's Paradise" and for Mr. Vladimir Rosing's troupe's each and every performance.

NOW THAT THE OPERA COMPANY'S LONG projected Boston debut is an accepted fact, the smart set is ever rallied to things and causes musical in putting a shoulder to the wheel. Two weeks at the Hotel Statler, commencing March 12, are an assured fact. What Mrs. Whitman and her assistants hope to accomplish as an assured fact is a generous fund, a very necessary concomitant to opera, since Boston has no municipally-minded philanthropist so generously inclined as Mr. Eastman. On several parties will fall this burden here, not on one alone.

BUT OPERA DONE WITH FRESH-VOICED young singers became all the rage last summer at Leslie Russell's miniature theater in Gloucester. Especially were there a's and a's of rapture when guests, proceeding from their motors through the ancient clutter and grove, found Sullivan Hall on its hilltop shelter in the moon's lambent glow. The affair soon spread out before it. Mr. Russell is

Ex-Pugilist Fells Two Store Robber Suspects

After attempting to rob Louis Shulman, proprietor of a shoe store at 1817 Washington st., Dorchester, and being beaten for their pains, Daniel L. Shay and Harold G. Murray of Warren st. Roxbury, in Roxbury court today were held in $10,000 each for the Grand Jury.

The pair pleaded not guilty to charges of assault and battery on Shulman with intent to rob. Both were sporting black eyes, both were minus teeth, and the face of each was cut and bruised.

'BIG NAVY' FOES IN HUB CONFER WITH WALSH

The "Big Navy" bill now before Congress may be the subject of discussion at a conference today in the Kimball building office of United States Senator David I. Walsh.

The conference was held at 3 o'clock, when Senator Walsh received a subcommittee of the emergency committee, headed by Lawrence G. Brooks, ex-John F. Moore, and including among other prominent officials, Moorfield Storey, Joseph Lee, Pres. Coombs of Tufts College, Robert Foshier, Bernard Rothwell, Zura du Pont and Charles Lamont.

The subcommittee expressed the reasons for opposing the bill as reported out by the naval affairs committee of Congress, according to Mr. Brooks.

"The bill has at least one vicious feature," said Mr. Brooks, "in that it eliminates the power of the President to suspend the program if a disarmament conference develops."

"Furthermore," he said, "the amount sought is out of proportion to the needs of the Navy Department, and would result in heavy taxes which the people would have to bear."

"We are much encouraged by developments that are taking place, but want to do all we can to see that the bill does not get through as reported out by the committee. There is no excuse for so much increased tonnage, and it would have a bad effect on international morale. We are in no danger of aggression from any foreign country."

"We are not in favor of a reduction of the navy, but also we are not in favor of this tremendous extra expense."

BAUER WANTS 4 LYNN POLICEMEN PUNISHED
Punishment of four Lynn policemen, according to Mayor Ralph R. Bauer, used a police automobile on a private trip to Boston, was demanded today by the State.

In a letter to Police Chief Burrows, Mayor Bauer charged that the four were on their way to law school and he wrote: "God save us from a crop of lawyers who have no more moral sense than police officers who use unlicensed cars for their own private business."

MAN TO MARRY 'WIFE' HE 'WED' 10 YEARS AGO

Recently discovering they had been legally married for the past ten years, James Christensen, 44, and Margaret Elizabeth Shaw, 59, both of Malden, took out marriage intentions in Pawtucket today preparatory to going through a legal ceremony. They returned to Malden pending the five-day law. The marriage will occur in Pawtucket next week.

The couple discovered their marriage was illegal a short time ago, they said, when they learned that a divorce decree of the Maine Supreme Court after it should have obtained an intermediary divorce in Providence Superior Court from her first husband, Michael J. Dunn, 1913. The divorce, it was recently learned, did not become effective until March 25, 1913. "We simply did not understand or investigate the decree," Mr. Christensen said today after taking out the intention.

MELTON FAVORS DELAY IN TAX REDUCTION
Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—Secretary Mellon does not agree with the congressional leaders who predict that delaying Senate action on the tax reduction bill will jeopardize the legislation at this session of Congress. He declared today that he saw no change in the situation and that the amount of reduction will be determined by the March 15 tax returns, which will show the exact revenue of the 1927 income.

SALTS FINE FOR AGING KIDNEYS

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jai Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine.

This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate thus helping to relieve bladder disorder.

Jai Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jai Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only movable.

GOLDWYN GOING TO EUROPE FOR TWO STARS

By LORETTA O. PARSONS
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 16.—Samuel Goldwyn is traveling all the way to Europe to find a leading man for "Vivian," his new picture. Mr. Goldwyn leaves next week in search of two new discoveries—a screen mate for Miss Bunkley and a girl who has Miss Bunkley's beauty, ability and charm to play opposite Ronald Colman.

After developing two such sensational successes as "Bunny" and "Colman" you cannot blame Mr. Goldwyn for trying to locate two new prospects.

The production troubles of Mr. Goldwyn have doubled since "Bunny" and Colman have separated. It now means two separate stories and two directors. Colman is all set with "Phantom Dan," an original story by Dana Burnett who is regarded as one of America's foremost young short story writers, arriving this morning to give his expert advice on his new picture.

While Mr. Goldwyn is in Europe, Mr. Burnett will confer with Arthur Hornbourn. If Europe does not furnish any bonnie beauties of sufficient charm to play opposite Mr. Colman, the chances are a certain actress now playing in stock in New York will be signed.

But Mr. Goldwyn's leading man will be a foreign actor, a dark type not unlike her husband, Rod La Rocque, or her former leading man, Ronald Colman.

A FEW years ago when American wanted to take a little trip they went to Paris. Today they come to Hollywood. The boulevards are full of tourists and the hotels filled with famous people who have come West to explore this much-discussed town.

Theda Bara, who will play the movie, writes, will join the company out here in another two months. She writes to say that she is to do a chorus girl story for "Lucky," she says that it is all she knows about the new job, and all she knows about the movie, but I am betting on Theda.

In the 320 stores of the Economy Grocery Stores in Metropolitan Boston young men and women are today telling of the enjoyable evening they spent at the Tent ballroom on Huntington ave., at the company's dance.

The committee in charge had several surprises and, altogether, the annual event was major and better than ever before. HAVANA PARLEY FINDS WAY TO SAVE UNION

Havana, Feb. 16 (AP)—With the Argentine delegation again absent, the Pan-American Union committee this morning unanimously adopted a resolution to provide a modest dividend for the Union until all nations of the Pan American Union convention are obtained. The resolution was adopted without dissent and within 15 minutes after the committee had received and read the resolution.

The resolution provides for a dividend of $100,000 per year for the Union until all nations of the Pan American Union convention are obtained.

among the nationals of the various American republics. It is categorically stated neither the governing board nor the Union itself shall be involved with political parties. All countries may withdraw from the Union at any time provided they continue to pay their share of the budget until the end of the current fiscal year. Finally, provision is made for the governing board to establish regulations authorizing a pension plan for members.

Baseball Arrives.
Fans Hopeful.
Two Good Managers.
By NICK FLATLEY

BASEBALL HERE, AND FANS ALL STEAMED UP

TIME passed as the sleepyhead cracked when the clock fell off the tower. Seems like only a week or so since the Pittsburgh Pirates were playing the reversible baseball that is now being tried on the coast. The Babe Ruth cheer has hardly died on the sport breeze, and another baseball season is with us.

The 1928 campaign, which starts officially tomorrow when Jack Slattery and some of his Braves trickle south, holds plenty of promise for Boston fans.

The Braves have the great Rogers Hornsby and a new manager. Bill Carrigan has his own hand picked gang for the Red Sox and should proceed to go somewhere.

It may be that Jack Slattery will fall down as other Tribal skippers have, but no Boston fan will believe that until such time as it may happen, which is something not to be considered.

Nick Flatley he considered. It may be that Carrigan will fall to find his magic touch, though he showed signs of getting it back last summer.

Perhaps Hornsby is slipping, though there is no reason to suspect such a thing.

The mere fact that there is ground for real hope makes this a momentous spring for the Boston fans. For several years they have been nursing wild dreams, hoping against hope.

What a golden harvest waits for the club that relieves that long famine! Two can make millions as well as one, if the double victory should happen.

With the opening bugle about to shatter the winter slumbers, it must be said that Messrs Carrigan and Slattery are ideal candidates to lead a couple of heretofore forlorn hopes.

HOPE SPURNS FETTERALS. THAT'S WHY 60,000 MANY KID STARS GET THEM AWAKENED IN MARCH. BY MID-APRIL THEY'RE MUSTY EMPLOYEES.

It would never be played in the spring, most of the real stars would be out of the league.

HARRY HAS NEEDED COURAGE AND JUDGMENT

DAN BARRY, playing like a lion under unusual previous pressure, showed courage and judgment in the game without much better.

The game was a bit of a struggle, but the boys were in it up to the end.

WANTING TO BE AN EMPLOYER SHOWS MORE COURAGE THAN MOST MILITARY OFFICERS.

Recently, a baseball, at a cost, has been played in Boston for a quite a long time.

EAGLE FOOTBALL STAFF WISELY PICKED

YOUNG JOSEPH MCGINLEY has a tough job ahead trying to select a football team for the lights. Any few who have the skill in football, organized machine and exert authority over the rest of the team.

Wanted Joseph himself, as the athletic director, picked the assistant coaches, the job was extremely easy. "Haley" even knows more than the coach himself, and is the kind of a hard boiled citizen who can find a way around his knowledge. High time he was offered a good position.

The attack had no small share in the starting success of Brown's famous gun team of 1925. He should know the secret of the winning shot.

McGinley, said and attested to his more experienced assistants, should have been offered discipline and getting the most out of his school. That will mean victory.

MR. BOSTON

MR. BOSTON started something when he opened fire on the dear old customers around.

"Let me tell you," writes George Anderson of South St. Jamaica Plain. "In one of those guys who pays the freight at boxing. I for one, for all Nickerson who was in row G when his coupon called for row G, but then he was one of the Amie Oakley was and so did not cost 100 per cent."

"There's my tale of woe. I stepped up to the box office and bought two $3.00 seats for a recent show in Boston. I got my tickets early so that I would be sure of having good seats."

"On the night of the fight, I had a dinner engagement with a 'died' and we didn't leave the club until 9 o'clock. By that time they were standing 10 deep behind the floor seats."

"By using football tactics, we finally hit an aisle, found an usher and started for our seats. The seats were there all right, but a couple of blue eyes were sitting in them."

"The usher held a whispered conversation with one of the blue eyes, and there seemed to be some kind of a disagreement. Finally one of his blue eyes said: 'There's plenty of room here. Let those guys squeeze in.'"

"The usher then disappeared and came back in a few minutes with a chair which he placed partly in the aisle. 'You four fellows can squeeze into these seats, he said and was gone before I could make any further protest."

"He has often felt that the only way one can be sure of getting a seat at a fight in Boston is to come to a show supported by a detail of cops."

"HERE'S one from Frank Hart of Dudley at, Roxbury: 'Glad somebody has the courage to start a drive on the poor ushering at the fights in Boston.'"

"The business takes me to New York about once a month and while in the big city I usually take in a show at the Garden. Although I'm always late in arriving at the Garden, I never have any difficulty in getting the seat called for by my coupon. I have yet to find anybody in my seat when I arrived."

"The seats in Boston conditions are different. Unless one is on the job when the building opens, he cannot get anywhere near his own seat. I have come late, late for shows and found my seat occupied by somebody else. When I have dared to ask for the seat, I have been told: 'I'm sorry, I have no more seats. I have sometimes been threatened with bodily harm by the occupant of the seat.'"

"I understand it is common practice in Boston for some of the gate element to buy $1.00 admission tickets to fights and then by slipping an usher 25 to 50 cents get placed in a reserved seat."

"The reason, I'm told, depend a great deal on the state of the graft. Some of them say they wouldn't take their jobs if they couldn't keep up the racket."

"The same crowd which works at the fights is also usually on the job at the ball games where one also runs into trouble. I should think the various sports organizations would join with you in driving this type of usher into some other racket."

WHAT IS YOUR STORY?

Mr. Boston is anxious to correct the present evil. He can only do this by getting the co-operation of the fans who are the real kinks of sports.

What DO YOU KNOW about grafting ushers?

Send in YOUR evidence to Mr. Boston, Boston Evening American, 100 State St., Boston.

Mr. Boston has wired Ted Ricard to send him a statement as to the system he uses at his fights WHERE THE CARB CUSTOMERS GET THEIR SEATS.

Rickard's statement will be published in a day or so.

Indian Six Seeks Inv. Club Scalp

By BILL GRIMES

AGAINST the Ojibway Indians, who hail from Tenagami, Ontario, the Canadian Club will get back into action tonight at the Boston Arena.

The Ojibway Indians have been playing in the "States" for the past six weeks and have proved to be one of the finest attractions that has come from across the border in years.

The Ojibway Indians are giving a very good show, and are exceptionally fast skaters. They play the rugged type of hockey and are all physically fit to stand up to the toughest body checking.

The Anderson brothers, who will be on the wings for the Ojibways, are among the best skaters in the game. They are fast skaters and handle the puck cleverly, along with packing terrific shots. Catches and linebacker moved like a cat.

outer defense in the practice yesterday, while Perrant gave a good account of himself in the net.

Alex MacAuley will be at center, and will be a very good player. He is an experienced player and will give the Ojibway a good fight.

Coach Leon Tappin will start Doug Borden and Chuck Hodder on the forward line with Capt. Owen. This line will be a very good one, and will be a very good one.

"Eddie Mowbray and 'Ricky' Hanks will be on the defense line. They will be a very good one, and will be a very good one.
